But the inhabitants were not the only sufferers. When contending with equal numbers they generally defeated the enemy, and often the Indians found their antagonists their superiors in stratagem as well as in bravery. Seven Indians meeting with a man by the name of Sawyer, took him prisoner, and having gone eight or ten miles, bound him and laid down to sleep. In the night, he succeeded in loosing his hands, and then silently taking out of the belt of the nearest savage his hatchet, killed with it six of them. The seventh made his escape wounded. Sawyer returned home in safety. The following account is given by the Rev. Mr. Fenn, the former clergyman of Harperstield, who received the information from Col. Harper. In the year 1778, M Donakl, a tory of some enterprise and activity, had collected about 300 Indians and tories, and was committing great depredations on the frontiers. He fell down upon the Dutch settlements of Schoharrie, with all his barbarity and exterminating rage: Col. Vrooman commanded in the fort at Schoharrie at this time: they saw the enemy wantonly destroying every thing on which they could lay their hand. The garrison were so weak, that they could spare no men from the fort to protect the inhabitants, or secure the crops.--...
