HANDS-ON MATH: BUILDING AND UNDERSTANDING A PARABOLIC REFLECTOR (PAPERBACK)

Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Hands-On Math: Building and Understanding a Parabolic Reflector introduces the reader to conic sections and explains how to build an inexpensive parabolic reflector. Building a parabolic reflector and working through the associated math is a project easily tailored to classrooms from Algebra I through Calculus. Hands-on and enjoyable, this project is ideal for demonstrating the beauty and power of math in every day living. The text includes detailed building plans and step-by-step instructions (accompanied by numerous photographs) for designing and building a parabolic reflector. The mathematics of the parabola are presented including a derivation of the equation of the parabola from its geometric definition and multiple proofs of the reflective property of the parabola. Methods for working with quadratic equations - factoring, completing the square, and graphing - are presented. Multiple problem sets are provided for practice, along with a complete answer key.
