Mr. Anthony Woodhouse came into my possession, I found this little collection of essays and sketches, neatly tied up with string and labelled Trivia. They have for their subject incidents and experiences of the year or two he spent in London, after leaving Oxford. He seems to have worked at them at different times, endeavouring, apparently, to find a prose-form in which to express moods and feelings generally supposed to belong to the province of verse. But evidently the result did not satisfy him, and he put Trivia away among his other papers. I have, however, thought it worth while to print a few copies of this little book - giving as it does a picture of Mr. Woodhouse's life and thoughts, it will be at least of interest to his friends.
